Walla Walla University Scholarship

COLLEGE PLACE, WA
WALLA WALLA UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES
Introduction
For over two decades the Walla Walla University Libraries have hosted a luncheon during National Library Week in recognition of Walla Walla University faculty contributions to the scholarly community.

The varied disciplines represented in the Walla Walla University community ensures that the work included in this report is varied as well, but among the items faculty are encouraged to contribute are published articles & books, defended dissertations, research projects, art exhibits, presentations at professional meetings or lecture series, recitals, sermons or workshops, and received recognitions from organizations. The citations in this report represent hours of a faculty member’s time and commitment. All of them represent an enthusiasm for and dedication to the discipline that they share with Walla Walla University students.

This report represents the submitted research for the time period between March 2013 and March 2014. Faculty who submit contributions are invited to share in a luncheon celebration of their work Monday, April 14, 2014. The following list is arranged by academic department represented, and then by Faculty name within that department.

Previous year’s reports as well as a database of research searchable by department and faculty member is available on the Walla Walla University website at www.wallawalla.edu/15541. When possible, the Walla Walla University Libraries seek to make books, dissertations, and other presentations available in their collections.

Walla Walla University Libraries congratulate the faculty of Walla Walla University for illustrating what it looks like to be a part of their discipline’s scholarship community. The Walla Walla University Libraries continue to support you through this process throughout the remainder of this school year and into the next.
