About the Artist

Frankie Bones, a First Nation student from Surrey, British Columbia, started taking piano lessons at the age of five, and in 2016 completed his Bachelor of Music degree in piano performance at Walla Walla University. He won the 2015 Musicfest Northwest Young Artist Concerto Competition, and as a result performed the first movement of Edvard Grieg’s Piano Concerto in A minor with the Spokane Symphony. He also received an Honorable Mention at the 2014 MTNA Competition, won first place in 2015, and received the runner-up placement in 2016 and 2017. Frankie has had various performances with the WWU Symphony Orchestra, including George Gershwin’s Rhapsody in Blue, and has performed solo recitals in Canada and the United States, including Pullman, Walla Walla, Surrey, Hope, Kelowna, New Westminster, Burnaby, and more.

Since 2011 he has been a collaborative pianist working predominantly with singers, but he has also performed with cellists, bassists, violinists, and various wind/brass players. While attending Walla Walla University, he accompanied both choirs, I Cantori and University Singers, conducted by Kraig Scott.

Recently, Frankie has been attending Washington State University and is completing a Masters of Arts degree in music in Summer 2018.

Special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Gustavsen for the reception following the recital. Thank You also for being my family away from home, I appreciate both of you so much. I also want to thank everyone for coming and supporting me tonight. I enjoy all my performances in Walla Walla.
