Voice Recital

Nicole Leach
mezzo-soprano

Lindsey Crumley
soprano

Kendra Haugen, piano

Jennalyn Stanley, piano

Walla Walla University
DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

Sunday, 14 April 2019, 2:00 p.m.
Melvin K. West Fine Arts Center Auditorium
Program

Der Schmetterling  Franz Schubert  (1797-1828)
Wie Melodien zieht es mir  Johannes Brahms  (1833-1897)
Die Lotosblume  Robert Schumann  (1810-1856)

At the Cry of the First Bird  David W. Guion  (1892-1981)
Come, Ye Blessed  John Prindle Scott  (1877-1932)
He Was Wounded  Craig Courtney  (1948-present)

Nicole Leach

Let Us Wander  Henry Purcell  (1659-1695)
from The Indian Queen
Nicole Leach and Lindsey Crumley

Have You Seen But a White Lily Grow  Anonymous
Time of James I
El Majo Discreto  Enrique Granados  (1867-1916)
The Mermaid’s Song  Franz Joseph Haydn  (1732-1809)

Lindsey Crumley

For Good  Stephen Schwartz  (1948-present)
from Wicked
Nicole Leach and Lindsey Crumley

It Might as Well Be Spring  Oscar Hammerstein II & Richard Rodgers  (1895-1960)  (1902-1979)
from State Fair
You’ll Never Walk Alone  Nicole Leach
from Carousel
Program Notes

“You’ll Never Walk Alone” from Carousel, is a very special song to me. I saw Carousel with my dad last August on the one year anniversary of my mother’s death. There is a scene in this musical where one of the main characters (Billy Bigelow) is killed and his widow, Julie Jordan, is weeping over his body. Cousin Nettie comes over to comfort Julie and this is the song she sings. It encompassed everything I was feeling and I could relate so well to Julie’s grief. I turned to my dad and whispered, “I’m going to sing this at my voice recital.”

This song is dedicated to my mother.

Nicole Leach and Lindsey Crumley are students of Christine Janis.