COMMUNITY
Senior Recognition
February 13, 2018, at 11 a.m.
Walla Walla University Church

Prelude ................................... Lord God, Now Be Glorified ................................... J.S. Bach
Bethany Foster, organ

Senior Processional ...................... Trumpet Tune in C ........................................ D. Johnson
Bethany Foster, organ

Welcome and Invocation .......................................................... John McVay
President

Hymn No. 4 ..................... Praise, My Soul, the King of Heaven ................... Congregation
Bethany Foster, organ

Class of 2018 ................................................................. ASWWU Video

Presentation of Class .......................................................... Volker Henning
Vice President for Academic Administration

Address ................................... “Life the Hound” ................................ Montgomery Buell
Associate Professor of History

Interview with Senior Class Officers ............................................. Jodi Wagner
Vice President for University Relations and Advancement

Address ................................ “Different World, Different Approach” .......... David Lindstrom
Director of Student Development Center

Musical Praise ................................................................ Peter Flores, Braden Stanyer, and Friends

Intercessory Prayer for Seniors* ................................................... Pedrito Maynard-Reid
Assistant to the President for Diversity
Professor of Biblical Studies and Missiology, Ombudsman

Recessional ........................................ Prelude and Fugue in C Major .................. J.S. Bach
Bethany Foster, organ

* Please honor our seniors by remaining seated until the conclusion of the recessional.
In the 22 years that Montgomery Buell has been at Walla Walla University, he has taught a wide variety of classes, although none directly in his area of research. His research on the history of North Pacific fisheries led to an appointment to the U.S. delegation to the North Pacific Anadromous Fish Convention, a multilateral treaty organization. He has presented and published widely on the topic, including “Political Trophics: Salmon, International Relations, and Ecology in the North Pacific,” “The Kingdom of Oncorhynchus,” and “How Salmon Conquered the World: Salmon Picante, Salmon Curry, and Syphilis.” He chaired the History and Philosophy Department from 2002-2012 and was Director for the Natural Resources Conservation and Management program from 2009-2012. Professor Buell also received the President’s Award for Excellence in Teaching in 2008. In his spare time he enjoys traveling and scuba diving.

David Lindstrom first came to Walla Walla University in 1993 with his wife Heidi. After graduating with his Bachelors and Masters degrees, starting his family by having his two boys and starting his career in Human Services Public Administration, he and his family moved to Oregon where he continued his career in Public and Health Care Administration. Walla Walla has always held a special place in his and his family’s hearts. David and his family moved back to the Walla Walla Valley in 2013 when he became the Director of the WWU Career Center. David has 16 years of management experience and over 7 years of adjunct teaching experience for Tillamook Community College and Walla Walla University, he is also active with a local service organization and coordinates an international youth exchange program. David is enjoying being able to share his experience and hope while directing and providing career services to the students and alumni of Walla Walla University, stating, “if I had taken advantage of career services in school, I could have saved 10 years of work finding my dream job”. David is happy to be back and watching his 2 sons launch into adulthood while being supported by his lovely wife Heidi.

David Lindstrom first came to Walla Walla University in 1993 with his wife Heidi. After graduating with his Bachelors and Masters degrees, starting his family by having his two boys and starting his career in Human Services Public Administration, he and his family moved to Oregon where he continued his career in Public and Health Care Administration. Walla Walla has always held a special place in his and his family’s hearts. David and his family moved back to the Walla Walla Valley in 2013 when he became the Director of the WWU Career Center. David has 16 years of management experience and over 7 years of adjunct teaching experience for Tillamook Community College and Walla Walla University, he is also active with a local service organization and coordinates an international youth exchange program. David is enjoying being able to share his experience and hope while directing and providing career services to the students and alumni of Walla Walla University, stating, “if I had taken advantage of career services in school, I could have saved 10 years of work finding my dream job”. David is happy to be back and watching his 2 sons launch into adulthood while being supported by his lovely wife Heidi.